What does Ownership mean?

When you join the Hudson Grocery Cooperative, you are purchasing an ownership share in our business. By becoming an owner, you help raise capital for the Co-op and support the store. As an owner, you influence the direction the co-op takes by asking questions, making suggestions, serving on committees or the Board of Directors, and spreading the word of this project.

Benefits of Ownership:

- You are supporting a grocery business that in-turn supports local farmers and independent food producers.
- You help maintain the vitality of the Hudson community by supporting a practical location for residents, workers, and visitors to purchase grocery staples.
- Each ownership receives a voice in the co-op's decisions.
- Co-op owners can run for election to the Board of Directors and sit on volunteer committees.
- You will be eligible for owner specials, such as discount days and our exclusive Owner Deals!
- Ownership allows you to participate in future co-op patronage dividend program.

Ownership is a one-time purchase of stock in the business.

Ownership in the Hudson Grocery Cooperative is $80.

Each owner is be awarded one share common stock (at $20). Owning this share of common stock allows you to vote on all business matters open to vote by the ownership, including elections of future board members. Additionally, owners are assigned three shares of preferred stock (at $20 each). These preferred stock shares have the potential of paying dividend returns in years the store generates a profit.
